administra- tion (ed-min- e-'strā-shen) what keeps us going

The first school building to be built in the Johnston district was constructed on the farm of, and from the timber of James Lawson, great-grandfather of our principal, Mr. Robert C. Otto.

Mr. Otto, born in July of 1924, in Johnston, was one among the graduating class of 1942 to serve in World War II. Mr. Otto served throughout Europe as a radio operator for the Air Force as a non-commissioned officer.

Returning from the service, Mr. Otto received his Bachelor's degree in Social Studies, and his Master's degree in Administration, both from Drake University.

His administrative career began in 1965 when he accepted a position with Saudel as Vice-President. Three years later he returned to Johnston to be the junior-senior high principal at the middle school for six years. When the present high school was built, he moved to the new building and has been principal for nine years, this year having been his last.

At the end of July, when his contract was fulfilled, he entered his retirement.

The School Board has among its members: president, Gene Lesch, superintendent, Louis Friestad, Leroy Main, Gretta Wilkinson, Jim Arthur, and Dodie Pugh.

Problems and decisions facing the board this year were: open lunch for juniors, late arrival for seniors, construction of a new middle school, and a replacement for Mr. Otto (though the purchasing of staples for Mrs. Babcock was discussed, it was not considered a major issue.).

While certain members of the J.H.S. student body may question a decision surrounding their needs, it is well known that the board works very hard to remain fair, and is the most powerful friend of the student body.

Aa annual (ăn'ū ăl) a bunch of hard working, fun loving kids striving together to make this fantastic yearbook.

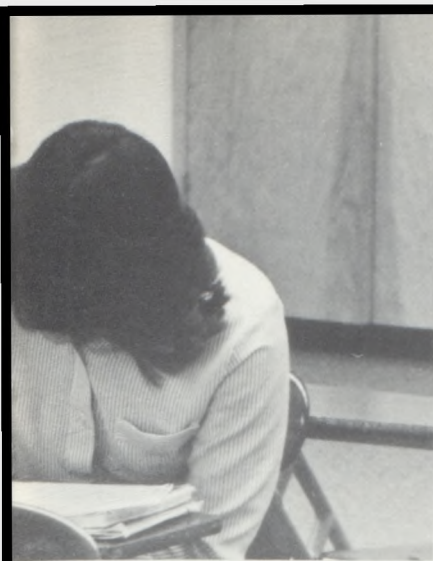

Aggravation! Hours of aggravation! Teeth gritting, hair pulling, nail biting, depression, but above all — aggravation.

"Where's the cropper? Did any new pictures come in? Where is Miss Ohaver? HELP! I'll never make the deadline. I've had to rewrite this story three times, I just can't please her."

"Ha Ha — mine passed inspection on the first round! You all have something to do now get busy!"

Day after day rooms 3 and 4 were buzzing with noise, as the annual staff prepared articles and layouts for the yearbook. Many tedious hours were spent slumped over a desk figuring the best way to get a page done. Each deadline met was an important success. Annual was the one class where Murphy's Law fit perfectly. If anything could possibly go wrong, it usually did. Although annual was a tough class, we all escaped with minor bumps and bruises and managed to gain the satisfaction of our hard work. Good friends were made; things were learned; good times were shared; memories were built; and this book was put together!

Opposite page: Upper Left: Mike, Kristi, Michele, and Lisa work on a community project. Upper Center: Our hard working editor, Michelle Shipley. Center: The 1982-83 annual staff: Front Row: Beth Linde, Kristi Hansen, Lisa Daniels, Michelle Shipley, Miss Ohaver. Second Row: Jim Jave, Michele Harris, Mike Rhoades, Melanie Hockmuth, Chris Fox. Back Row: Eldon Lee, Jeff Westpheling. Lower Right: Lisa proves it's not all fun and games. Lower Left: Chris, Jeff, and Eldon work to meet a pressing deadline. Upper Right: Oops! somebody made a mistake! Center Right: Put it in the history books, Miss Ohaver is actually smiling! Lower Center: Michelle, Kristi, Beth, Melanie, and Lisa discuss top secret information. Lower: The beauty and the brains of the class.

The 1982 dragon baseball team did exceptionally well last summer with a conference championship which included 13 wins, one loss, and four first team players who were Don Vestal, Scott Dewhurst, Bob Sigmund, and Tom Huth. The team also won their own invitational by downing Council Bluffs and edging Indianola in extra innings. The dragons had a 20-9 overall record. Coach Jim Mahoney said, "The team set high goals because they were a senior team with a lot of good ball players, their main goals were to make it to state and be a rated team at the end of the season." They were rated fifth going into districts but were upset by Perry four to two in the second game. Bobby Sigmund said, "The team had its ups and downs during the year but overall played well together."

Basket-ball, boys' (bas'-ket-bol)

game where players try to score by tossing a ball through a raised goal.

The 1982-83 boys' basketball team had a very productive season last year and the future looks even brighter with last year's varsity team having two freshmen, one sophomore, and one junior starters. The only starter that graduated was tri-captain Monte Friestad. The varsity team finished 5-9 and stood fifth in the HOI Conference.

The team was led in total points by Curt Neumann with 229 followed by his brother, Todd, with 175. Curt Neumann also led the squad in total rebounds with 137 and again followed by his brother, Todd, with 114. Senior Dave Sexton had the highest free throw percentage with 84.2%. Sophomore Curt Neumann was given an all-state honorable mention and made all-conference 2nd team while Monte Friestad received an all-conference honorable mention. Todd Neumann and Joel Johnson were named freshman players of the year in the HOIC. Senior tri-captains were Monte Friestad, David Sexton, and Randy Baker.

Despite the fact that freshmen Joel Johnson and Todd Neumann were elevated to the varsity team, the freshmen were able to capture the Heart of Iowa championship with a 7-1 record and posted an overall record of 9-3.

Offensively the team was led by Robert Cramer (14 ppg). Cramer was also the leading rebounder (5.5 pg).

Traen led the team in steals (65), field goal percentage (49.2%), and free throw accuracy (72%), and voted Most Valuable Player. Hauser was voted best defensive player.

Top: Junior Varsity — 1st row — D. Ahern, J. Rolfes, Coach Wicks, J. Casey, B. Stelter, 2nd row: B. Kreps, M. Coakley, S. Dougherty, D. Stout, H. Iverson. Middle: Freshmen — 1st row — G. Traen, M. This year was the turning point for Johnston girls' basketball. The Dragons were led by seven seniors. Teamwork and attitude were the two main reasons for bringing the team up from the bottom of the conference to a second place title with a record of 11-3 and overall record of 13-7 with most losses coming from the Metro. It was the best year ever for the girls on the conference. Six players were either first, second or honorable mention All Conference. Mrs. and Mrs. Sunde would like to give special thanks to all seniors and wish them the best of luck.

Bb business
(biz' nis) the courses in which students are taught how to coordinate eight fingers and one thumb on a typewriter, that shorthand is not a foreign language and can be interpreted, and that you can balance your checkbook.

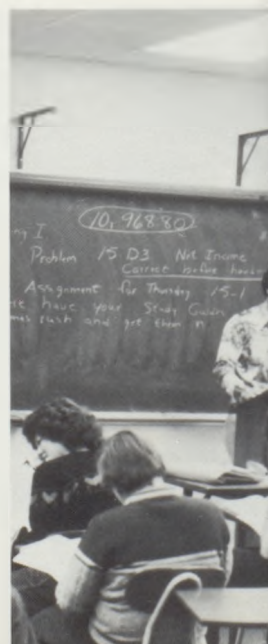

It was another year of students busy with accounting, general business, typing, shorthand, and office practice.

There were so many students in Accounting I that Mr. Oldham didn't have enough books so some of them had to share books, which wasn't very convenient. There was an Accounting II class last year too. Seven people enjoyed Accounting I so much that they just had to take a second year of it.

Last year Johnston High School got a new typing teacher, Mrs. Judy Goshorn. She earned her degrees from the University of Nebraska at Omaha and from Drake University. She taught at Omaha College, which is a private vocational school. She said that she likes teaching high school students because, "it's fun."

Seven new typewriters were purchased last year so that most everyone that wanted to learn how to type or continue building their typing skills would have the opportunity to do so. Six of these new typewriters are really nice; they automatically erase your mistakes at the touch of a key; they have an automatic margin set, half space button, line indicator, a repeat key, and when you get to the end of the line there is a little beep instead of the bell sound like on the other typewriters. And one other important feature is that they are very quiet.

Since only six students requested office practice this year it could not be a class by itself. It was combined with Typing IV. That way those students still had the opportunity to work with the adding machines, dictaphones, and typewriters.

Everyone in these business classes were kept very busy throughout the year. And the students proved to be very successful in their work.

Two, four, six, eight, who do we appreciate? The cheerleaders, that's who! They started the year with an emphasis on school spirit. Posters were made, doughnut sales were sponsored, and pep assemblies were organized.

Throughout the year, the three varsity squads helped with many activities to get their fellow students involved. Such activities included some of the Homecoming fun, Wrestling Week, and visiting Veterans Hospital. In addition to getting others involved, the cheerleaders spent long hours practicing. Some of the girls started as early as the football players.

The school spirit was on a rise with the addition of Pep Club. There were about 30 active members who gave up many weekends to show the teams they were behind them 100% of the way.

As the seasons ended, many girls simply changed uniforms and continued to cheer for another J.H.S. athletic squad. Much appreciation is extended. We thank you for helping make it a terrific year!

colophon (kōl' ō fōn) a boring part of the Johnston Annual that tells the fabrication of the book

The 225 copies of the Johnston Annual entitled Encyclotionary were printed by Taylor Publishing Company, using 80 pound enamel paper. The Sales Representative was Mrs. Jill E. Schmidt-Rodriguez.

The cover is a standard company cover in the form of an encyclopedia or dictionary. The theme concept of the book was created by the Annual Staff. There are 144 pages, 6 of which are color. The endsheets are red and white with all the students', faculty's and staff's names on them. Body copy was typed in 10 point Times Roman 48 and caption copy was typed in 8 point Times Roman 48, both with bold and standard print. Headlines and the ad page headlines were chosen by the staff. The size of the book is 7¼ x 10½.

We would like to acknowledge all of the following who have helped to put the book together. Thank you . . .

IN TRUTH, BOTH INSTRUCTORS HAD TAKEN VARIOUS COMPUTER LITERACY COURSES DURING THE SUMMER AND PREVIOUS YEAR TO PREPARE THEMSELVES.

'WE'VE GOT FINALS NEXT WEEK AND I STILL DON'T KNOW WHAT I'M DOING' SAID KRISTIN THOMPSON AS SHE FINISHED WORK ON A COMPLEX SORT PROGRAM.

MANY STUDENTS HAD COMPUTERS OF THEIR OWN AT HOME AND WERE MORE EXPERIENCED THAN OTHERS, SO INDEPENDENT STUDY PROGRAMS WERE SPONSORED FOR QUALIFIED STUDENTS.

THERE WAS CONTROVERSY SURROUNDING GAME PLAYING BETWEEN STUDENTS AND MRS. BABCOCK. THE STUDENTS ARGUED THAT IF THE COMPUTERS WEREN'T BEING USED FOR WORK WHY NOT LET THEM BE USED FOR SIMULATIONS? MRS. BABCOCK SAID 'NO', AND SINCE SHE HAS THE KEY TO THE COMPUTER ROOM - NO GAMES WERE PLAYED (OPENLY).

a group of kids who strive for perfection in music.

"Don't Stop Believing," the song Concert Choir sang for Homecoming set a nice goal for the year. They had a long way to go and a lot of work ahead of them before State Contest in May.

The 43 member choir directed by Mrs. Jody White performed at Homecoming, three concerts, State Contest, and Commencement. They also did a Madrigal Dinner in December.

Some of the songs the group sang this year were "Cantate Domino," "Joy is on the Way," "Some Folks Do," and "The Little White Hen." The music that the choir did is a little tougher and more challenging than the music Senior High Chorus did.

Every other year the group goes on a trip. To raise money for their trip, which they will be taking next year, they sold grapefruit, oranges, and cheese.

When asked what she thought of this year's choir, Mrs. White said, "The Concert Choir has worked hard to achieve the goals established at the onset of the year, such as improved tone quality and musicianship."

Cc cooks

(kooks) geniuses of the kitchen who make caviar from horse meat.

There were fewer complaints from the students on this year's lunch choices, but many students didn't like the split lunch.

There was a choice between a salad, a sandwich or a regular hot lunch each day. There were more compliments on the quality of the lunch. Some of the favorites were the salad bar, pizza, and the dessert cups. This year they also sold cookies for ten cents with the most popular being chocolate and peanut butter.

There were two 26 minute lunch periods last year. You were put in one or the other depending on your schedule. Most kids didn't like it because they couldn't be with all of their friends.

"I don't like split lunches because lunch used to be the only time I could spend with some of my friends and now I don't even have that," commented Lisa Daniels.

Cc Cross Country (kros kən' trē) a fall athletic event that involves running up and down hills and through all terrain

The 1982 Cross Country team, led by three year letterman Mike Main, surprised everybody last year with both boys and girls consistently placing in the top three at all of their invitationals. The boys won the Adel Invitational and the girls won at the Johnston and Waukee Invitationals.

At the beginning of the season it looked as though there might not be a girls' team, but by the second week of practice eight girls turned out to start the best season the Johnston girls ever had. They placed third at Districts and qualified for State. Tracy Wasson said that cross country and running were the best things that had ever happened to her. Mike Main also qualified for State by placing third at Districts. All members of the girls' team were out for their first year. Even though the boys' team didn't achieve its goals of going to State, coach Strickler offered praise by saying, "Both teams — they put out all anybody could have asked for."

people who maintain our school and keep it in order.

The custodians in our school did a great deal of work, even though you didn't see them most of the time. They regulated the lunch periods, mowed the football and baseball fields and kept the furnaces running. Not only did they work during school hours but they worked at night, on the weekends and during vacations. Their work, inside and out, kept this school running smoothly.

The custodians said that the new schedule for lunch and classes didn't affect their own work schedule enough to complain about.

a group of girls who wave flags and twirl guns for entertainment.

The 1982-83 Drill team started in April of 1982 with the tryouts for the rifles and flags. Two of the returning flag girls, Nancy Gilson and Amy Everhart, attended a flag camp at Drake during June of 1982. The five rifle girls had a one day camp here at Johnston taught by Mr. Dick Redman of Pella. These camps allowed both teams more variety in their shows with very precise execution. They started practicing their fall half-time show at the end of August and practiced after school till the last home game in October. They also led the Homecoming parade during the football season and were in a few pep assemblies during the year.

Ee English (īng'glīsh) a class that teaches you to read and write correctly.

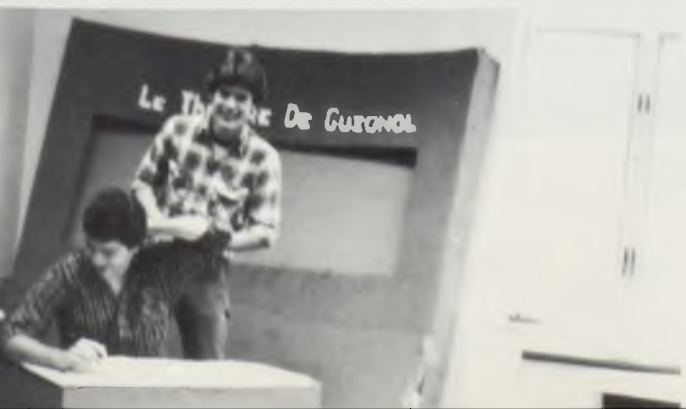

Last year was a very special year for one of our English teachers, Mrs. Tews, because she was blessed with a baby girl during the fall. This kept her from teaching for the second quarter, so we had a substitute, Kathy Curtis, until Christmas vacation. She took over Mrs. Tews' classes which were English 10B, English 11/12, speech, media, and business english. The other teachers kept busy with their own classes.

Miss Ohaver taught French I and II, English 9B, 9th grade English, and annual. Mrs. Doolittle taught 9th grade English, advanced composition, contemporary novel, and individualized reading. Mrs. Partington taught 10th grade English, American literature, world literature, psychology, Etymology I and II, and creative writing. Mrs. Rockhold taught 9th grade English, Spanish I and II, and Advanced Spanish.

fellowship of Christian ath- letes (êf sē ā) a bunch of fun-loving guys and gals who share their belief in God, as well as their problems and happy thoughts with each other.

Last year the Fellowship of Christian Athletes was about thirty members strong which was a good number. It kept the meetings better organized, as well as quieter, and it was much easier to ask someone to open up his home to a group that size. "However," adds Mr. Oldham, "we would like to have had more support from this year's freshmen."

Some of the topics during meetings of fellowship included listening to seminars on tape about such subjects as: rock and roll and how it had contributed to the moral decline of our nation, and films about professional athletes and how they accepted God as a chief part of their particular sport.

The first meeting was spent at the Christian Center during warm weather. The group had a fun time riding on a hayrack, swinging on the bag swing, and collapsing around a fire to drink hot chocolate.

Students really enjoyed F.C.A., Mike Main had this to say, "We've done many really fun activities over the years, and I'm glad I could be a part of it." Jan Quick, one of the newer members of the group thinks, "It's very interesting and I like to be with all those fun people."

Fellow of Christian Athletes is something all students at JHS should try, regardless of whether they're involved in sports. It's a good time to spend with the good people and good friends of JHS.

The 1982 Dragon Football Team faced hopes of a possible share of the title in the Heart of Iowa conference when the season started Head Coach George Sypnewski thought, "Anything could happen in the conference this year. The title is up for grabs. Our team is led by a strong group of seniors!"

Indeed many things did happen in the HOIC this season. The Dragons faced three top contenders for state play-off bids in their first four games. Two of the three saw action in this year's state play-offs, South Hamilton and conference champion Roland Story who boasted the state's longest winning streak.

"Although the team's record stood at 0-5 midway through the season, the players weren't quitters," said coach Jim Mahoney. During a heavy downpour the Dragons came away with a 12-7 victory over Nevada at Homecoming. This was a big boost for the team to win its first and what later proved to be its only, game in front of the home fans. Co-captain and Homecoming King Monte Friestad said, "This was a big victory for us as a team, and as seniors. We didn't want to leave our mark at 0-9!"

It was a heart-breaking season for the Johnston Gridders. "We lost a lot of games that we should have won," voiced Bob Gilmore. This showed in the post season awards as only Monte Friestad and Bob Sellner made first team All Conference. Monte, at defensive utility, and Bob at the offensive line. Mark Lindhoff, made second team defensive line, and senior Bob Gilmore, along with junior Brad Putney made honorable mention.

Looking toward next year, the Dragons will have many returning lettermen, including captains Matt Lang and Brad Putney, as well as, a fine group of underclassmen. The season's best offensive players were Bob Sellner and Curt Neumann, and the best defensive player was Mark Lindhoff. The most valuable player was Monte Friestad.

Solweig Nolheim lived with her parents in southern Sweden. She had two older brothers who were both married and had children. She was 18 years old. She has been living with the Gilson family since August of 1982.

She came to the United States to study English and to learn what life was like in America.

Last year she took government, U.S. History, P.E., topical math, French I, chorus, etymology, and world lit. She planned to take Latin and she already spoke German. She was also out for tennis and she played the piano in Jazz 2.

She said that school here and school in Sweden were hard to compare but a few of the differences she mentioned were that you couldn't choose many of your classes, there were less music courses offered, and you had to choose your field when you were a sophomore in Sweden. (She chose foreign languages.)

When asked what she thought of the Mid-west, she said that it was colder in the winter and warmer in the summer than in Sweden and we're behind in clothing fashions. She said that the mini-skirts and leg warmers had come and gone two years ago in Sweden.

Some of her hobbies back home were soccer, choir, reading, having fun with friends, and she used to be a member in a pop group. She said they even made a record!

She said that when she got out of school she was considering going to college in the states and eventually she wants a job as an interpreter or a translator.

I'll never forget how Miss Ohaver started her French class every day. After two years of French, I've even figured out what it means! Miss Ohaver has been teaching French I, II and advanced French for four years now.

I'll never forget my first day in French I. We walked in, a bunch of freshmen trying to look confident their first day of high school. We were all doing pretty well until French I. Miss Ohaver didn't speak a word we could understand. All she spoke was French. At the end of that first day, many of us were considering giving up on trying to be frenchies and trying Spanish for a while. Well, most of us survived our first year and entered our second year of French. We got to do a unit on French cooking and a puppet show for the French I kids.

But what I think everyone was looking forward to was probably the trip to Paris which won't be until the summer of 1984.

believe it either! It was the largest freshman class since ... well, who knows when? Just because of all those 8th graders coming to the high school as freshmen, many changes were made, for example, there were eight class periods with split lunch to top it off. It was just awful! Of course, high school was a new experience for the freshmen, and some of them had this to say:

"We've been treated especially well by the upperclassmen, which surprised me," said Stephanie Speer. Pam Prediger agreed that most upperclassmen were nice with the exception of her brother.

More freedom was something all freshmen talked about, but along with that came more responsibility. Sports practice, as well as music and cheerleading, were harder and more demanding. There were more dances and after school activities, and many freshmen enjoyed these privileges. They showed good school spirit, although the first couple of weeks of school there were quite a few dazed freshmen in the halls. All in all, the freshmen had a good year, and speaking on behalf of all upper classman, we were glad to have you around for someone to laugh at and pick on.

Graduation

(grăd ū ā shun)

a tearful, joyous occasion when seniors receive their diplomas and are sent out into the world.

"Take the world as you find it, but leave it better." This was the motto for the graduating class of 1983, and that was exactly what the class intended to do. The graduation ceremonies started off at 2:00 P.M. on Sunday, May 22, 1983, with a Baccalaureate service for friends and family of the seniors. The service was conducted by Reverend David A. Bergstrom. He spoke of ideas and impressions of 150 years ago. He told of the time when slavery was accepted and pleaded with the seniors present to help abolish war.

At 2:55 the graduating seniors lined up for the procession into the gym.

Escorted by juniors Bryon Tack and Jan Quick, 92 students walked down the aisle, the girls in grey and the boys in blue. As the song "Pomp and Circumstance" rang through the gym, the tears were already flowing. In the valedictorian address, Carla Goss spoke of what it was like to be a Johnston "lifer." She reminisced about elementary school, complete with memories of Jennifer Cisna's role as milk monitor. In the salutatorian address, Stacy Schoondyke spoke of the future and her predictions for her fellow classmates. She thought they could make it with the help of a little faith and a smile. The guest speaker was Charles Iler, he wished the class luck and gave Mr. Otto the nickname "Toot." His speech was special because he also spoke to the class at their 8th grade graduation. The diplomas were handed out by Mr. Lee Main, father of one of the students, and friend to all. Superintendent Louis Friestad quipped that son Monte should perhaps go into advertising because of the salutation "Hi Mom" on his hat.

After the ceremony, many hugs and kisses were exchanged; many tears were flowing; and many sighs of relief were sighed. The class of '83 had made it; they were alumni!

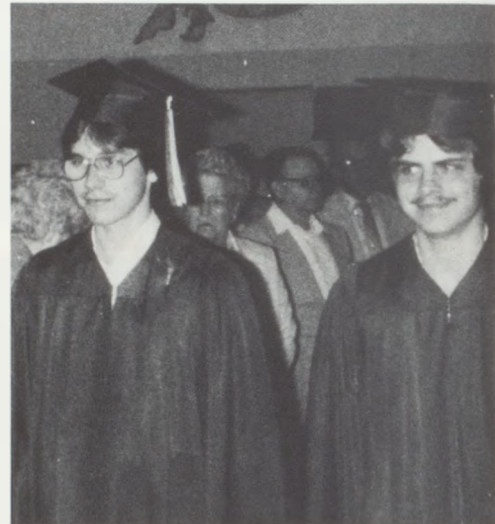

The class that had always stuck so close, would go their separate ways into life; they would individually seek their new careers; and many will never see each other again. It will be interesting to see the class in 20 years, to see how they have changed, and what life has brought them. But right now, the class is young and full of ideas. Good luck to everyone, put those ideas to work and let's conquer the world!

Hh history

(his' tō ri) one of the few required classes at JHS where you learn 196 different ways World War I and World War II started

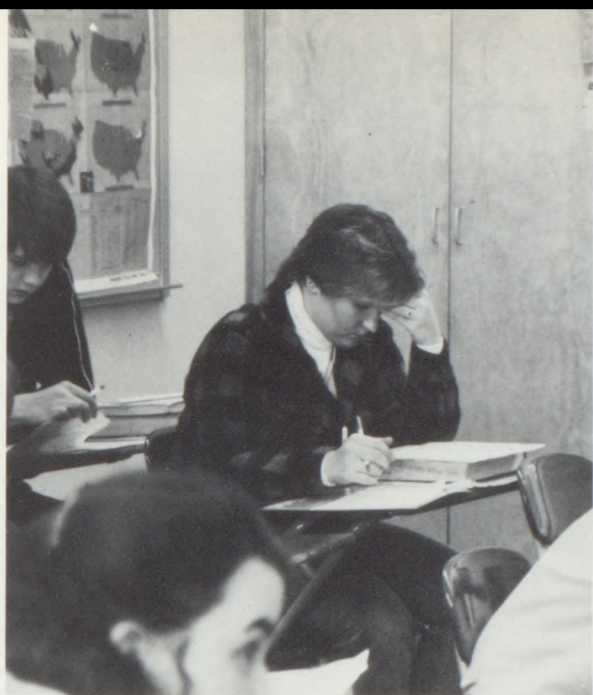

Some of the sophomores were probably really excited to get world studies and Mr. Harswick's dumb jokes over with. Michele Harris disliked world studies because of all those questions we had to do.

History might not have been so bad for the girls because they could sit there and watch Mr. Lehman all period. Government was another one of the classes at JHS and there were many more jokes in there from Mr. Pitz. Lisa Daniels liked the atmosphere of her 7th hour class. Melanie Hockmuth liked the way Mr. Pitz teaches. Michelle Shipley said it wasn't one of her better classes.

Hh Home Ec

(hōm ec) A class where you learn to feed and clothe yourself, something your mom has been trying to teach you to do for years.

Home Ec covered many subjects. In Foods I you learned the basic methods of cooking, how to use cooking utensils properly and how to budget your food money. Foods II taught how to cook foods from other countries. Clothing classes provided for a wide range of ability. The students made tote bags and vests to jeans and blazers. In child development they planned activities for a nursery school and learned the fundamental way of taking care of children. Independent living covered things a person on his or her own should know such as checking accounts, tax forms, clothing repair, budgets and meal planning. These were taught by Mrs. Molly Lauen.

Li Industrial Arts (in dus'trē-āl ärts)

a class where you make wood and metal projects but you don't learn how to get rid of them.

Industrial Arts was taught by Mr. Dennis Martin. He covered a wide range of classes relating to the industrial crafts. In Metals I and II you learn how to bend, cut, rivet, and weld metal into different projects. In Woods I and II you could learn how to shape, cut and glue together projects from tables to gumball machines. Mechanical drafting taught you 3-dimensional drawing, drawing different angles and how to read them. In Construction you learn how to make small buildings like sheds and how to read blue prints.

homecoming (hōm kūm ing)

that special time of year when students and teachers get crazy!

The day started off as most October mornings do. The sun was shining brightly and most people had the Monday morning blues. However, this day wasn't like most Monday's; it was the beginning of the Johnston High School 1982 Homecoming Week.

The week began with a bang. Hundreds of hats swarmed the halls on Hat Day. There were all kinds of hats from Joni Delp's piggy baseball cap to Karin McCartney's huge sombrero.

The week raced on to Tuesday, a very impressive day at J.H.S. Walking the halls were teachers and students alike in their Sunday best, helping to recognize Tuesday as Dress Up Day.

The week then rocked on to Wednesday with the students moving back in time to the days of poodle skirts and bobby socks to help celebrate 50's Day.

On Thursday, a stranger would have thought the students of J.H.S. forgot to get dressed. The majority of kids arrived at school decked out in their nighttime wear — quite a switch from Tuesday's Dress Up Day. The whistle blew; the drums began to beat; and all joined in a chorus of the "Johnston Fight Song" as the parade began to move. Our Dragon Queen of the Orient, Geni Wren, was mounted on her horse, Dolly. What a strange sight — a dragon riding a horse! After the parade, it was back to the school to watch the teachers and students play a friendly game of softball. We could hardly believe our eyes as we watched Mr. Harswick try to make an impossible play. He stumbled, fell, and broke his ankle!

By Friday, the skies had turned to gray, but school spirit shone brighter than ever with the arrival of Purple and Gold day. Anyone found not wearing The Colors was painted the traditional Purple and Gold — right Randy? Later, after the coronation, the Pep Club sponsored some fun activities for everyone to join in on. The freshmen finally proved themselves by winning the tug of war. Where were you, seniors? Curt Neumann and Troy Johnson took the honors at the egg toss. As the day went on, anticipation grew, and our football team didn't let us down. They had an impressive 12-7 victory over Nevada — good job guys! The theme of our homecoming "Don't Stop Believing" proved very true on this night, as the Dragons were the supposed underdogs. It was pouring down rain, but no one even noticed.

Along with Saturday, and the end of the week, came one of the highlights of last year's homecoming — the dance. The lights were dimmed and the band "Quest" was playing. Everyone was in good spirits, not for a moment forgetting our big victory from the night before. And I'm sure most will agree — the week went too fast.

The Johnston Dragon football team won their first game of the season against Nevada, 12-7. The team did very well considering that it had rained most of the day and half the night and the field was muddy and slick.

The Powder Puff teams this year were good. The freshmen and sophomores looked a lot better with Dana Plew as their quarterback and many more good players. As usual, the Juniors and Seniors won.

Our Freshman attendant was Sheryl Larsen and her escort, Joel Johnson. For the Sophomores it was Lisa Maigaard and her escort, Matt Coakley. The Junior attendant was Jan Quick and her escort, Chris Fox.

Our King and Queen nominees were Jennifer Cisna, Stacy Schoondyke, and Kristin Thomson. King candidates were Scott Campbell, Monte Friestad, and Mike Main. Our new 1982-83 Homecoming King and Queen were Kristin Thomson and Monte Friestad.

(jăz' bānd) elite group who can blow off more hot air than anybody in school

The 1982-83 Jazz Band featuring seven seniors, four juniors, two sophomores, and four freshmen had one of the best years ever at Johnston with high rankings wherever they went. The band, led by Dave Gardner, received a division one "superior" at Drake and a division two "excellent" at the state contest. The band also got fourth place at the District Contest. Mr. Gardner added that the seventeen member elite group of talented band students gave the best performance ever by a Johnston band by placing second in the Drake Jazz Festival.

Jj junior
(jōōnyēr) a student who has completed two grueling years of being the inferior person getting run over in the halls and now is out for revenge.

Last year's juniors have seen their share of privileges revoked such as student center studyhalls just before they came to the high school. Then just as juniors were looking forward to open lunch and late arrival both of these privileges were also revoked by action of the School Board. It wasn't all bad though; some new things came out such as starting with the class of 1984, a student must have 19 credits to graduate and take a certain amount of classes each year.

Some juniors felt they were discriminated against by the administration. Brad Putney thinks, "They're out to ruin the fun in high school."

"The next thing you know," says Jenny McTaggart, "they'll change the age we get our licenses and the drinking age!"

Eldon Lee said, "I feel that we should have had some say in the new rules because it affects us more than it affects the people who make the rules."

Jeff Westpheling said, "If seniors can go out for lunch then why not juniors? It should be both juniors and seniors or nobody."

This was also a year of decisions and, believe it or not, some advantages. Decisions were made on which college to attend and ACT tests were taken. It was their first year to attend prom, and some juniors represented our school on the United Nations tour.

Mr. Lehman had all juniors in U.S. History, and prepared them for Mr. Pitz's government class. There were a few brave souls who attempted chemistry and some were in higher mathematics.

(lī' brērē) a very nice place to be where you are treated fairly by the rules.

Last year's library was made more strict by the addition of some new rules made by Mrs. Babcock. They were that some kind of homework or resource work must be done most of the hour, and once you're kicked out for nine weeks, you only have one chance to come back the rest of the year. But these new rules were worth it when you considered on the use of the school's new video tape machine, which you could check it out to watch things like basketball games, wrestling meets, band and choral concerts and the talent show. You could also use the school's computers and learn the basic functions of programming.

a group of talented kids who brave early morning hours and cold weather to bring you entertainment at the half-time of football games.

In spite of the cool weather and wet grass, the students in marching band came to school early three or four mornings a week to learn marching drills. They perform songs such as "Excaliber," "On Broadway," and "Love On the Rocks" at the half time of home football games.

The band also attended two marching band contests. The first was the State Marching Band Contest at Pella where they received a II rating. They also went to the Knoxville Marching Band Contest where they received a score of 44.9.

madrigal dinner (măd'rī gāl dīn'ěr) a step back in time.

The lights were dimmed; the candles were burning; and the guests were seated, anxiously awaiting the beginning of the enchanted evening. The Johnston High School Third Annual Madrigal Dinner was underway.

At the blare of the trumpets, the procession of royalty began. The performers were dressed from head to toe in costumes of the Renaissance era, complete to the men's hats and the ladies' long strands of pearls.

After the royalty reached the head table, the servers entered, welcoming the guests with a chorus of "Masters In This Hall." After the song of prayer, the servers brought in the wassail — a hot cider-type mixture, with which everyone joined in on a toast to the Lord of the Manor, Monte Friestad.

Everyone had a good time, including the jester, played by Spencer Sutton. The guests seemed to enjoy his quick humor and witty ways, but many were surprised by his wandering mistletoe.

There were many "fair maidens" attending without dates, all were searching for their handsome prince and they were not disappointed by the news from a far off palace that a prince was on his way, in search of a maiden. A contest was held, all of the eligible ladies lined up, each was asked a question, and the winner was to wed the prince. Kim Wuytens was the lucky girl and as her handsome prince came to claim her, many were surprised that he was such a dog — a Saint Bernard to be exact.

The Madrigal Dinner was quickly coming to an end, but for those who attended, it wasn't complete without the concert portion. The performers sang such songs as "Shepherds Rejoice," "Lo How a Rose," "Angels we Have Heard On High," "indulci Jubilo," and "My Friends We now Must Leave Thee" after which, the performers wished the audience a happy holiday season with their version of "We Wish You a Merry Christmas."

When asked what she thought of the performance, Mrs. Jody White said: "I'm very happy to see that the Madrigal Dinner has become a Christmas tradition in Johnston. I think it instills the spirit of Christmas in both the participants and the audience."

Last year's Marquettes performed at halftime of the boys' basketball games. Senior Stacy Schoondyke made the All-American Drill Team and got to go to Dallas. Last year was the Marquettes fourth year.

tribute to a great teacher

This page is a tribute to Mary Ohaver. It's our way of thanking her for all of her time and hard work. As the annual advisor, she spent many hours going over our work to make it as near perfect as possible. As many know, Miss Ohaver got married this summer. We would like to congratulate her and wish her luck in her new life. We hope the future holds everything she wants.

Dear Miss Ohaver,

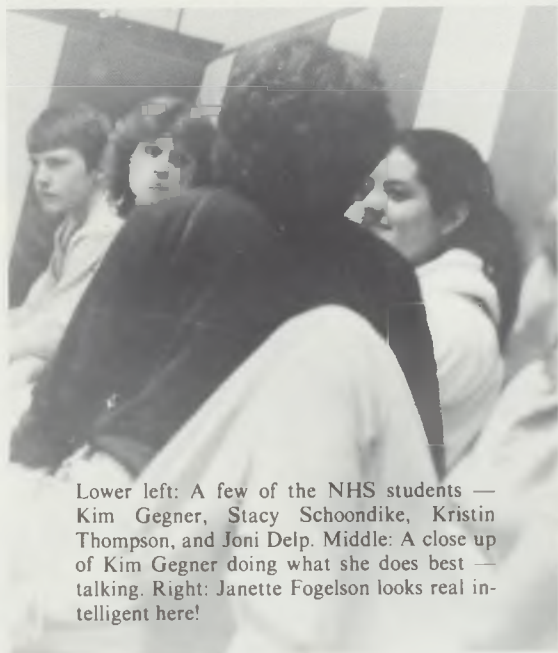

We, the 1982-83 annual staff would like to thank you and wish you all the luck in the world. We know it hasn't always been easy putting up with us and we realize that perhaps we could have made things easier. We would like to thank you for not holding our outbursts against us. Many jokes have been made about your never smiling, but that's all they were, jokes. Thank you for the cheerful attitude, it made it easier to get things done. Good Luck to you and Dave, and thanks for everything!

In this series of pictures, Miss Ohaver shows us what she does all day. As a teacher, she spends most of her time helping students learn the necessities of life — English, French, and how to draw a decent layout!!! Wouldn't her mother be proud???

Oo One- Act Plays (wün äkt plāz) a group of dedicated thespians joining together to put on a display of raw talent for JHS every spring.

Last spring four one-act plays were presented at Johnston High School. They were "The Open Window," "Chickenman," "Out the Window," and "The Waiting Room." All three plays were under the direction of Mrs. Marilyn Tews. Student directors also played a large part and they were Karen Hauser, "The Open Window;" Solweig Nolheim, "Chickenman;" Sean Dougherty, "Out the Window;" and Beth Evans, "The Waiting Room."

The first play, "Out the Window," was about a married couple living with the wife's mother. The husband pushes them both out the window but they survive, and he ends up jumping out the window and killing himself. "The Waiting Room" showed a group of blind old women in a waiting room waiting to be "cured." They all stood around and described what they thought the room looked like. Eventually one of them died and the nurse said she was "cured." The third play, "The Open Window," was about a girl named Vera who told a visitor that her uncle and brother had been killed while hunting while actually they were alive and still hunting. When they came the visitor became hysterical and left in a hurry, much to the surprise of the uncle and brother. The last play, "Chickenman," was about a man who wrote a show called "Chickenman" and actually lived the part by dressing as a chicken and living in a nest.

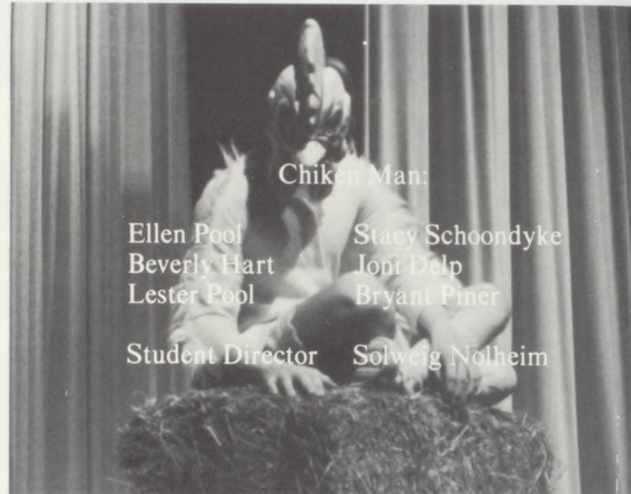

Other people who helped were Mr. Dave Gardner with sound and the sets were painted by Mr. Jack Noah's Art II class.

physical education
(fīz'ikāl ěd' ū kā' shūn) running, sweating and being tortured with all of Mr. Strickler's and Ms. Crawford's new activities — Just for an A.

Physical education last year was almost the same as any other year at Johnston High. Mr. Strickler and Ms. Crawford always telling us our new activities and then giving us a test on them. Last year Ms. Crawford had a student teacher, Joyce Hegstrom, from Iowa State. She was very nice until she gave us a test which nobody liked. Some of the activities she taught us were basketball, badminton, and racquetball. Mr. Strickler didn't have a student teacher but he did the same things as Ms. Crawford, such as basketball, racquetball, and soccer. Pam Mulhern liked P.E. because she got to have it with the guys.

Annette Kingsley didn't like P.E. because they played the same games every year; she didn't like to take skills test and hated to wrestle.

Pp Prom

(prŏm) a special time of the year especially for the Seniors arranged by the junior class.

Prom was held on the 5th floor of the Za-Ga-Zig Shrine Temple at 806 Locust.

"Truly" was the theme of last year's prom. Prom is always a special time for everyone to look forward to.

All the girls that planned to go to Prom started looking for Prom dresses in February. But there were a few that waited till two or three weeks before to get a dress and then on the day of the Prom, they were out shopping for shoes and a purse to go with their dress.

Then the guys had to rent their tuxes, and save lots of money to take their dates out to dinner at some fancy restaurant.

Most people went to dinner then to Prom, but some vice versa. When they finally arrived at Prom, it was time for the professionals to take their picture; a little dancing; and finally the senior cut-downs which were read by Chris Fox, Bryan Tack, and Hugh Iverson.

The freshman servers were Connie Conley, Stacy Cruz, Jake Bowen, and Brad Madison.

Welcome

We would like to sincerely welcome each and everyone of you to the 1983 Johnston High School Prom, at the Shrine Temple. Tonight is a very special night for all of us, especially for the Senior Class. We hope all of you will have an enjoyable evening and that the memories of this special event will be cherished forever. As the years pass the question may be asked "When Will I See You Again?"

Truly

Poem to the Seniors

On winged feet the four years pass
And now we honor our Senior Class.
Beyond these walls, this town, this state
A whole new world now lies in wait.
You've much to learn, we're often told
Wisdom to gain before you're old
But tonight - before you turn and go
Your separate ways, as well we know.
Enjoy this place, these hours, this school
In memory they'll return to you.

Truly

Girl, tell me only this
That I have your heart for always
And you want me by your side
Whispering the words
"I'll always love you"
And forever, I will be your lover
And I know if you really care
I will always be there
Now, I need to tell you this
There's no other love like your love
And, as long as I live
I'll give you all the joy
My heart and soul can give
Let me hold you
I need to have you near me
And I feel with you in my arms
This love will last forever
Because I'm truly
Truly in love with you, Girl
I'm truly, head over heels, with you love
I need you
And with your love I'm free
And truly,
You know you're all right with me

Ss science

(sī'-ens) — a required course where students are expected to find rocks and weather interesting, cutting up dead cats fun, and blowing up the chemistry lab enjoyable.

Last year one more science credit was added so J.H.S. students had to take two science classes to graduate.

As a freshman, you were required to take earth science with Mr.

Briggs. In earth science we learned about rocks, volcanoes, weather, and the atmosphere.

Biology was a class most sophomores took, although it wasn't required. We learned about genes, reproduction, evolution, functions of the human body and nature.

If you didn't take biology, then you were required to take basic science with Mr. Partington. Mr. Partington also taught chemistry, physics, and advanced chemistry.

Mr. Mahoney also taught advanced biology, offered only to seniors and juniors. In this class the students experimented with chicken embryos. They also dissected dead cats and raised tadpoles.

Johnston High School ranks high on their ITED and college entrance exams in the natural science area.

(sek're ter ē) the women that Mr. Lang, Mr. Otto and the school could not do without for one day.

Last year's secretaries worked just as hard as the years before. Mrs. Morris kept busy by filing, calling announcements, keeping records of the student in order and many other things. Mrs. Busby worked with records, grades, set up appointments, sold lunch tickets and recorded test scores. But they were helped greatly by the office helpers who were: Jackie Murphy, Kristin Thompson, Amy Cahalan, Pam Christofferson, Chris Mingles, Karen DeSart, Amy Thompson, Cheri Carr, Cheryl Jones, Shelli Mullenhauser and Amy Zenor. These girls did a variety of things like typing, recording attendance, delivering mail and other important duties.

Ss Seniors

(sē -nyors) The ultimate in cool students at JHS.

What a year! A combination of frustration and expectation!

When the year started, the seniors were looking forward to good times and graduation. Their expectations beyond that were slim at most. As the year wore on, the future became brighter and more clear. But many confused voices still asked, "What next? Thirteen years of school and now what?" The seniors were at a very difficult point in life, faced with many decisions such as college, work, and/or marriage.

As always, the last year of school was a time for reflection, a time for remembering happy moments. For those who attended the elementary, memories included the annual Fun Night, carrying lunch boxes, and chasing each other at recess. When they moved on to the middle school, they learned to throw food with more grace, and had mastered the "three R's." By the eighth grade, they became more intelligent and started taking an interest in each other. They added a new phrase to their vocabulary — "going together." At that age, where they were going was the mystery. As they all moved on to the high school, a great transition occurred, they were no longer children — they were "adults." Most high school days passed with ease, however, there were exceptions, such as Mr. Briggs' famous rock tests and the five minute presentations in speech.

Years from now, when the old year-books are taken out of the closet, and the Class of 1983 starts reminiscing, most will forget those anxious moments and think of the glorious times like homecoming and prom. Many will remember Bobby Sigmund fainting in advanced biology and sabotaging Kim Wuytens' locker with a dead cat.

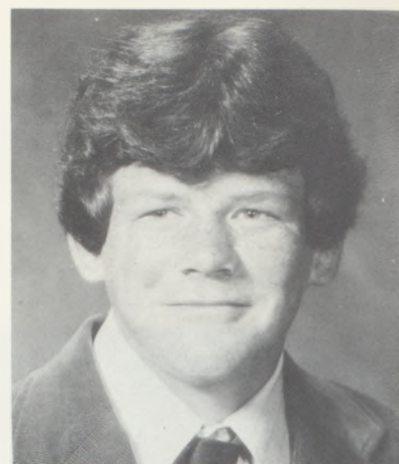

All of these things are in the past and, although we all enjoy reminiscing now and then we must put the past behind us and advance on to tomorrow. As the seniors leave J.H.S. it will be with warm memories of a wonderful era and the knowledge that they've had the best!

Ss senior high chorus (sēn' yēr hī kō' rūs) a group of hard- working kids who like to sing

"Gonna Rise Up Singin'" is exactly what the Senior High Chorus did this year. The chorus, directed by Mrs. Jody White, performed for three concerts and Commencement.

Their first concert they performed songs such as "Oh Praise the Lord With Heart and Voice" and "Shadrack." The second concert was a trip to dreamland entitled "Not For Children Only." It featured characters such as Grover, Raggedy Ann, Winnie the Pooh, a fairy godmother, and a little girl named Emily. Some of the songs included "When You Wish Upon a Star," "Bibbidi, Bobbidi, Boo," and "Gonna Rise Up Singin' ". The third concert they did a rock cantata called "The Creation" that told about the seven days in which God created the Heaven and Earth.

Many of the kids took solos, duets, or small groups to the small group contest this year. Overall the group received good ratings.

Although the group had unbalanced numbers on the different parts they worked hard and overcame many of their obstacles.

The Johnston softball team had a season record of 3-21. The conference record was 1-13. The team had seven returning letter winners, one of which had played varsity for two years. Janet Hyde received honorable mention for the all-conference team.

The team didn't have a very good record, but they did do very well on defense. They were able to hold West Marshall, who was in the State Summer Softball Tournament, 3-0. They also held Nevada, 1-0. Julie Traen thought the season was fun, but she wished they would have won more games.

Miss Crawford took a leave of absence last summer so the head coach was Pat Fjelland and the assistant coach was Pat O'Donnell. Marcy Christofferson said, "The softball season was fun and I'm glad Mr. O'Donnell was our coach." Becky Breen did an excellent job of pitching. The team had a lot of potential which they showed during their season. Mr. O'Donnell commented, "Our girls, many times, were on the edge of being a good ball team."

(sof emôr) n. wise fool, a student one notch above the freshmen on a JHS totem pole but a fool because they are still underclassmen.

Looking back upon our Sophomore year, it really wasn't so bad. All in all, it was really fun! Not being a freshman anymore had to make it better! Being a sophomore had its advantages and disadvantages though. We were still underclassmen, but know we could pick on the freshmen with the rest of the school! We knew where we were going without getting lost and we were even treated as humans! But, of course, we had to suffer through Happy Harswick Hour which was not one of our most exciting classes. And, then there was also biology, sophomore English, and speech which weren't always a whole lot of fun either. One of the most memorable things of our sophomore year was probably turning sixteen and the keys to the family car or if you were lucky, your very own car! We had a very talented sophomore class. There were a lot of kids in band, chorus, and every sport. Sophomores such as Pat Arthur, Steve Belknap, and Lisa Fulmer all occupy first and second chairs in jazz band, and concert band. Cosimo

advice (sound

people that sings and dances hoping that someday it will be on Broadway.

The Sound Advice music group did an excellent job last year. Mrs. White said, "They had a mature sound and liked to entertain their audiences. They were really good."

Sound Advice was composed of sophomores and freshmen. They did a total of three concerts, Fall, Winter, and Spring. They also sang at hospitals, benefits, and the Johnston Middle and Elementary schools. Sound Advice traveled to Creston, Iowa, to participate in the State Swing Choir contest. They did a superb job of placing in the second division.

Ss Spanish

(spān' ish) a group of people who learn to babble in a foreign tongue, hoping to travel to Mexico someday

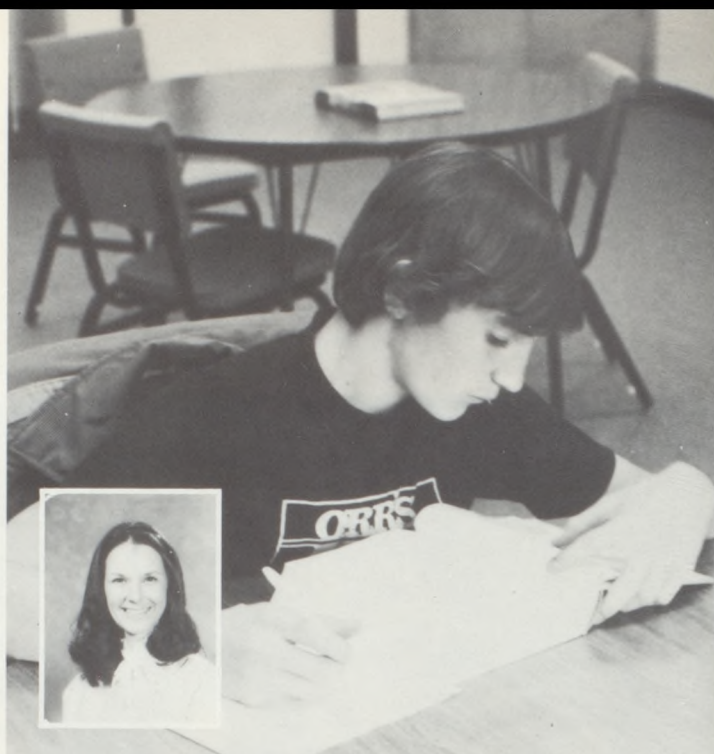

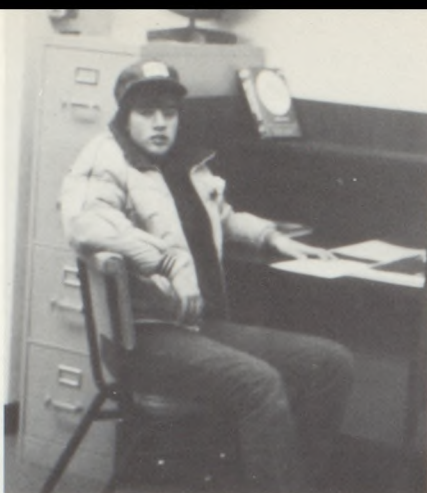

The Spanish students went to Mexico last June 9 through the 16. They spent a few days in each Mexico City, Taxco, and Alcapulco. They visited the Metropolitan Cathedral, Pyramids of Teotihuacan, Floating Gardens of Xochimilco, the Ballet Folklorico, a sunset cruise on the yacht Fiesta and they saw many fine arts like Taxco's famous silver and its bark paintings.

Sixteen students from Johnston went to Mexico which were chaperoned by, Mrs. Rockhold, Miss Ohaver, and Mr. Donahue. The students raised money for the trip by selling flowers at Christmas and working in the concession stand.

Ss Special education

classes that specialize in giving students extra help with their school work.

While roaming the halls at J.H.S. many students might have seen a few teachers they didn't recognize. Three of them made up the Johnston High School Special Education Department. For those of you who didn't know them, they are Mrs. Kathy Pitzen, Mrs. Diane Benjamin, and Mrs. Vicki Cornelius. These three ladies made a career of giving students extra help with their schoolwork. Many of their students have high potential but need help organizing their material.

Mrs. Cornelius joined the Special Ed. staff last year and worked with six students. When asked how she liked I.H.S., she replied, "I like it a lot." Before she joined the staff at Johnston, she taught in Minnesota. We would like to welcome her to Johnston.

Mrs. Benjamin was around the year before, however, she changed her name over the summer, or, rather, got married — congratulations! Last year she was working with 14 students. Mrs. Pitzen was working with 18.

Ss student advisory board (stū'děnt ăd vī' zō rē bōrd) a board of 13 members who assist in making decisions pertaining to the school.

The Student Advisory Board consisted of thirteen members, three class officers from each grade, and one Student Advisory Board President.

The board usually met about once a week to discuss such things as Homecoming activities, school policies, Christmas activities, and Junior-Senior Prom.

All the members of the Student Advisory Board had a chance to participate in a Leadership 2000 training seminar given by Dr. Ray Pugh. The seminar took all day in the high school auditorium. The program taught things such as how to gain self-confidence. Other participants were athletic captains, band officers, and cheerleading captains.

The swing choir had a very successful year earning the only class A 1-superior rating at the State Contest and getting first at the Coe College Swing Choir Festival. The final concert of the year was a program called Las Vegas Fantasy including all of the swing choir's songs and the title theme "Fantasy." Sound Advice did "Step out in Front" and "Life is a Celebration." All of the alumni performed a song called "What Would I Do Without My Music." The swing choir had 16 members and Sound Advice had 27. Both groups were under the direction of Mrs. Jody White.

Tt tennis

(ten is) a game played by 20 JHS girls using a racket and lots of tennis balls, trying to hit them over the net, not the fence!

The girl's tennis team got off to a slow start again last year because of the weather. The year before last only nine girls were out for tennis; last year that number increased to twenty. Over half of the team consisted of freshmen.

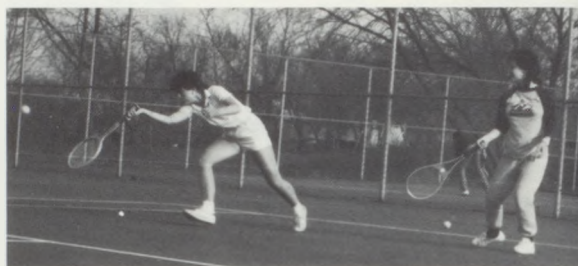

After the first couple of weeks of practice, only the top twelve players had regular practices after school. The other eight players had to challenge each other to get higher on the ladder.

The top ten players participated in the meets but everyone else went along to cheer them on. Sometimes the girls that weren't playing Varsity had the opportunity to play JV.

Mrs. Pitzen had this comment, "The Johnston girls' tennis team is young, but has good potential. I'm pleased with the girls' performance and their current 6-1 record. Last year we made it to Regionals (a new record for the tennis team) and hope to go at least as far this year. Next year is promising as we are losing only two seniors and currently have several talented freshmen. I expect to have an equally as successful 1983-84 year."

The last two meets were cancelled

Tt Track

(trak) a sport in which people run in circles to improve their cardiovascular system

The 1983 Johnston track team had a good season, but didn't do as well as expected. The team had seven seniors returning to the track but only two of them, Mike Main and John Allender, made it to State. The Dragons won the conference championship for the seventh year in a row, and placed first at the Nevada Relays.

The team sent four events to State. They were John Allender in the 100 meter dash, Mike Main in the two mile and the mile, and then Main joined up with Joel Johnson, Matt Lang, and Chris Fox in the 4 x 800 to set a new school record of 8:09:45. Coach Strickler had hopes of placing as a team at State but did say we did very well considering the competition at districts.

Tt Track, Girls' (trak) A sport in which muscles of the human body are called upon to perform great actions

On March 12, the cry of sore muscles, aches, pains, and fatigue was heard throughout the halls of Johnston. Whom were these moans and groans from? None other than the Johnston girls' track team. Running with guts and determination was a big part of starting the season. Those first few weeks were the toughest but we all made it.

With a lot of patience with the weather, we finally had our first track meet at Bondurant and came out with a stunning victory. Throughout cancellations, due to rain and snow, we finished the season by attending eight more successful meets. They were at Johnston, Carlisle, Nevada, Pella Christian, Urbandale, Heart of Iowa Conference (HOIC), and the District meet. The HOIC was a big disappointment when we placed second by losing our first place title by five points and in our District meet we placed fourth. Overall we had three first places, two seconds, and three fourth places.

We had many record breakers this year such as our 10 FSH relay team with a time of 107.57, Jan Quick with a record high jump of 5'3, and Karen DeSart in the shot put with a throw of 38'3½". These were also our state qualifiers. Kristin Thompson, Tracy Haller, Val Crees, and Donna Brooks made the finals in the 10 FSH relay, Jan Quick qualified in the 200 meters and 400 meters dashes and placed fourth in 400 meter finals. Karen DeSart qualified and unfortunately didn't place in the finals of the shot put.

When asked about our track season, Mr. Oldham said, "We had more illness than in the past, but overall, we had a successful season and next year's team should really be good."

Well, through a lot of hard work everybody made it through the good times and the bad, above all, we did it together and shared everyone's laughter and pain!

The volleyball team had twenty-three girls on the squad. This was the biggest team Johnston had ever had. Most of their games were out of town with only three home matches. Once, the team went to Creston and didn't get home until 1:30 in the morning because the bus broke down. The team hadn't eaten yet so they piled 15 people in a station wagon and drove to Pizza Hut. The team also had another asset. Chris Betz was their manager. Chris, what were you up to??

The team had four returning starters last year, three of which were seniors. Their record was 43-35 for the season. The best match they played that season was against Hoover, which took the team five games. The scores were 15-3, 15-8, 7-15, 8-15, and 15-5.

One goal the team set was to beat Knoxville, which was rated first in state almost the entire season. Johnston came up against Knoxville three times. The last time they played their goal finally came true — the team beat Knoxville one game, 15-3. Pam Prediger said, "I liked volleyball. We had a lot of potential. It's a sport we need to get more enthused about because we're going to be really good."

W W what's up? (hwöts ũp)

a section towards the end of the Johnston Encylotionary that summarizes notable fads and events of the 1982-83 school year.

There were many exciting new movies to keep us entertained this year.

Director/producer Steven Spielberg created two of the best movies this season, E.T. and Poltergeist. E.T. was a heartwarming story about a little extra-terrestrial being who gets stranded on earth. He makes friends with a little boy named Elliot and Elliot's family who help him get back home. This movie brought in over $1 billion in box offices worldwide.

If you liked Rocky I and Rocky II or if you just liked Sylvester Stallone, then Rocky III was the movie for you.

Rocky, also known as the Italian Stallion, is challenged by a formidable opponent, Clubber Lang, who defeats Rocky. They have a rematch and the hero, Rocky, makes another comeback and regains his title.

If you liked something a little more thrilling, there was Poltergeist, Steven Spielberg's second hit. Poltergeist was about a family whose house is built over a cemetery. The spirits in the cemetery get their revenge on the people in the house. This movie was loaded with special effects and it kept you on the edge of your seat.

Other good movies were Halloween III, An Officer and a Gentleman, The World According to Garp, Star Trek: Wrath of Kahn, Friday the 13th part III, On Golden Pond, Author!, Best Little Whore House in Texas and many more.

Not all entertainment was to be found on a movie screen, many people found it on the screens of electronic games. The video game craze hit really big this last year. With games like Pac-man, Frogger, Defender, Donkey Kong, Tempest, Dig Dug, Omega Race, Vanguard, and the list goes on and on. Many found themselves addicted to their flashing lights, bizarre creatures and wild music. Atari Corporation, the world's leader in coin operated machines and home video systems, made a whopping $4.5 billion on electronic games.

If you saw people walking around, biking, jogging, working, or just relaxing with strange-looking gadgets on their waistbands and telltale glints of metal on their heads, they were probably users of the new "Walkman." These were small portable radios with headphones that could be used anywhere. They ranged in price from anywhere from $30 to $300.

Fashion-wise, people were dressed from prairie skirts, ruffled blouses and boots to sailor-type shirts, knickers, mini skirts, and nautical motifs to the forever "Preppy" look with alligators, dragons, foxes, and horses along with turned up collars and topsiders.

A new member was born to the Royal Family in England on July 21, 1982. This 7 lb. 1½ oz., blue eyed bundle of joy is someday to be the king of England. Seven weeks after his birth, he was christened with the first name William.

Not all the events of last year were that happy though. The crisis in Lebanon continued and Beirut was the center of the fighting. Israel's forces destroyed most of the P.L.O.'s line over and over again. Finally, the P.L.O. decided to pull out because they had been defeated.

wrestling (res- ling) a sport in which you try to pin your opponent by using very painful moves that make him want to concede

The 1982-83 wrestling season was a season of ups and downs. It started with some low places in some tournaments and some very close one point losses to Ballard and Nevada. But it got better as the year went on. We got first place at the Carlisle Tournament and first place at Sectionals and sent two wrestlers, Matt Lang, a junior, and Cosimo Graham, a sophomore to State. The team was very young and inexperienced in varsity wrestling but they proved they could wrestle with the best. Freshman Barry Jones said varsity wrestling was a very big step from middle school wrestling. "Even though I was a freshman they treated me fairly and as part of the team."

Bob Sellner says, "It was a good learning experience for the young wrestlers. I was glad to be part of a great team."

Yy You're a Good Man Charlie Brown. (yō ər ă good măn chär' lē broun) a musical showing how many things can go wrong in one day — even a day in the life of a comic strip character

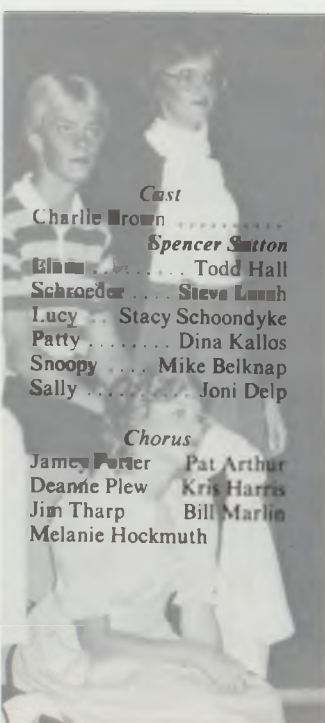

"What could possibly go wrong on a day like today?" Well, if you saw the musical last fall you found out what could go wrong, at least in the day of a Peanuts character, namely Charlie Brown.

With the beginning of school came the beginning of musical practices for the cast and chorus. The 14 member group and their two directors, Mrs. Jody White and Mrs. Marilyn Tews practiced Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday nights from 7:00 to 10:00.

Their first performance was for the 7th and 8th grade students on the afternoon of Friday, October 1. The second and final performance was on Saturday, October 2, for a crowd of about 300 people.

Just what can go wrong in the day of a Peanuts character? A lot if your name is Charlie Brown: flying a kite, writing a book report, going to get psychiatric "help," or striking out and losing the most important game of the baseball season.

But as the cast and chorus found out, "Happiness is singing together when day is through, and happiness is those who sing with you."
